GOSPEL REFLECTION

THEY SAW AND BELIEVED: SCOTT HAHN REFLECTS ON EASTER SUNDAY

By Scott Hahn, From St. Paul Center for Biblical Theology

Jesus is nowhere visible. Yet today's Gospel tells us that Peter and John "saw and believed." What did they see? Burial shrouds lying on the floor of an empty tomb. Maybe that convinced them that He hadn't been carted off by grave robbers, who usually stole the expensive burial linens and left the corpses behind. But notice the repetition of the word "tomb"—seven times in nine verses. They saw the empty tomb and they believed what He had promised: that God would raise Him on the third day. Chosen to be His "witnesses," today's First Reading tells us, the Apostles were "commissioned...to preach...and testify" to all that they had seen—from His anointing with the Holy Spirit at the Jordan to the empty tomb.

More than their own experience, they were instructed in the mysteries of the divine economy, God's saving plan—to know how "all the prophets bear witness" to Him (see Luke 24:27,44). Now they could "understand the Scripture," could teach us what He had told them—that He was "the Stone which the builders rejected," which today's Psalm prophesies His Resurrection and exaltation (see Luke 20:17; Matthew 21:42; Acts 4:11).

We are the children of the apostolic witnesses. That is why we still gather early in the morning on the first day of every week to celebrate this feast of the empty tomb, give thanks for "Christ our life," as today's Epistle calls Him. Baptized into His death and Resurrection, we live the heavenly life of the risen Christ, our lives "hidden with Christ in God." We are now His witnesses, too. But we testify to things we cannot see but only believe; we seek in earthly things what is above. We live in memory of the Apostles' witness, like them eating and drinking with the risen Lord at the altar. And we wait in hope for what the Apostles told us would come—the day when we too "will appear with Him in glory."

REFLEXIÓN DEL EVANGELIO

VIERON Y CREYERON: SCOTT HAHN REFLEJA SOBRE EL DOMINGO DE PASCUA

Por Scott Hahn, Fuente St. Paul Center for Biblical Theology

En el Evangelio de hoy, a Jesús no se le ve por ningún lado. Sin embargo, nos dice que Pedro y Juan “vieron y creyeron”.

¿Qué fue lo que vieron? Lienzos funerarios que yacían en el piso de una tumba vacía. Tal vez eso les convenció de que el cuerpo no se lo habían robado ladrones de sepulcros, quienes frecuentemente se llevaban los costosos linos funerarios y dejaban los cadáveres.

Es notoria la repetición de la palabra “tumba”: siete veces en nueve versículos. Ellos vieron la tumba vacía y creyeron lo que Cristo había prometido: que Dios lo resucitaría al tercer día.

Como nos dice la primera lectura de hoy, los apóstoles fueron escogidos para ser “sus testigos” y fueron “encargados de...predicar... y testificar” a todos los que no habían visto; desde la unción de Jesús con el Espíritu Santo en el Jordán hasta la tumba vacía.

Más allá de su propia experiencia, fueron instruidos en los misterios de la economía divina, del plan de salvación de Dios, para saber que todos los profetas habían testificado sobre Él (cf, Lc 24,27.44)

Ahora podían “comprender las Escrituras”; podían enseñarnos todo lo que Él les había dicho: que Él era

“la piedra que desecharon los constructores”, de quien el salmo de hoy profetizó su resurrección y exaltación (cf. Lc 20,17; Mt 21,42; Hch 4,11).

Somos los hijos de los testigos apostólicos. Por eso nos seguimos reuniendo el primer día de cada semana, temprano por la mañana, para celebrar el banquete de la tumba vacía y dar gracias por Cristo “vida nuestra”, como le llama la epístola de hoy.

Bautizados en su muerte y resurrección, vivimos la vida celestial de Cristo resucitado y nuestras vidas están “escondidas con Cristo en Dios”. Ahora también somos sus testigos. Pero damos testimonio de cosas que no podemos ver, sino solo creer; buscamos en las cosas de la tierra lo que está arriba.

Vivimos en la memoria del testimonio de los apóstoles. Como ellos, comemos y bebemos con el Señor resucitado en el altar. Y aguardamos con esperanza por lo que los apóstoles nos dijeron que vendría: el día en que también nosotros “apareceremos con Él en gloria”.
